WANTS HER LOST HUSBAND.

Mrs. Tobin Thinks He May Have Been Murdered for Money.

Mrs. Mary Tobin, of School street fonkers, called at Police Headquarters this morning to make inquiries for her husband, who has been missing from his home for the last two weeks. Yesterday passed into the hands of Stafford & afternoon Mrs. Tobin received a letter bearing a New York postmark and signed J. Dillon, stating that her husband was in Chambers Street Hospital, and asking her to cal and see him.

She was told at the hospital that her husband had never been there. Mrs. Tobin fears that her husband has either met with some accident and is confined in some institution, or else he has been foully dealt with. There is no reason, she says, why he should remain away, as his home life was happy.

As Badly Off as "Berenice."

I can fully sympathize with "Berenice," as gentlemen. Not long ago I had the chance of keeping company with a gentleman I thought something of, but on account of my father's strictness I have to stay at home while some other girl has the pleasure of his company. Is that right? My father says a girl has no right to go out alone with a gentleman unless the is engaged to him. Is he right? MARIE.

Silk and Bobinet.

Liliputian designers and clothiers are silk gamps and not gowns. The net is like the old-fashioned bobinet, in weave, but the thread is coarse, making a cool, airy and rather durable dress. The fashion is to have the skirts touch the ground, but wise, kind mothers will be out of fashion whenever the child's comfort is molested.

Sunshine Cake.

Cream one cup of butter; add two cups of sugar and beat to a cream; eleven eggs beaten very light and three three times; beat until light and smooth, add two teaspoonfuls of baking-powder; turn into a greased Turk's head and bake forty-five minutes in a moderately quick oven. Washing and Cleaning Gloves.

The so-called washing gloves are an excellent choice for utility purposes all Summer, as they can be cleaned once and again by washing them in water that is more than warm, but not scalding hot, using a bit of pure white soap in the process. It is best to wash then upon the hands, as the chamois is less likely to shrink in drying. Wash and then rinse in clear water, and then dry by rubbing with a Turkish or other soft rough towel. For kid gloves of light color, that are but slightly soiled but not stained, there is no better mode of freshening than to wind a bit of oiled silk around the finger, rubbing vigorously to remove all traces of the mark. Any woman who tests this easy way of cleaning kid gloves will be sure to keep thereafter a strip of silk in her possession. A quarter, or even an eighth, of yard is enough to purchase at once, as in fancy dry-goods houses, where it is sold, it is kept moist in a large roll, and is thus very pliable. Moisten the silk, however, when using.

The Late Rose Terry Cooke. The late Rose Terry Cooke was not a favorite in the little Conecticut town in which she spent her life. Her sarcastle tongue was much feared and there was always a sense of relief when she left any gathering of women. This unfortunate tendency is what she herself speaks of in one of her delightful stories. Straw Hat Famine in England.

England is said to be on the verge of straw hat famine, and in anticipation of such a calamity the factories are now running on increased time. The same thing happened last year, when for six weeks straw hats were not to be purchased at any price. American hats are more popular in England than those of home manufacture, as they are lighter in weight and more stylish and graceful in shape.
